SPECTRUM 1977

*Volume XV
Sun Valley High School
Aston, Pennsylvania*

APPRECIATION

What is a school without a yearbook and its advisor? Mrs. MacDonald has given much of her time to advise the Spectrum staff, helping to make our yearbook something special. She has shown the staff how to work together, directing them in the different skills needed to accomplish the job. What does a yearbook staff get with Mrs. MacDonald? SUCCESS!

Although he is gone, Dr. Zechman will be remembered by all as the man who helped us toward our first steps of maturity in our early years at Sun Valley.

Being assistant principal holds many responsibilities, for Mr. Miller must retain an authoritative stance while still acting as a friend toward the students.

Mr. Bolyard, assistant principal, guided the students of Sun Valley in many situations. He shows the students he cares with his help in keeping the school always at its best.

Casting, Costumes, Acts . . . Mr. Hamlin. All these factors played an important part in the Senior Variety Show, making "Saturday Night Jive" a hit. Mr. Hamlin helped our senior class form this show into something special with our own ideas and skits. Directing is a major role needed in each production and Mr. Hamlin filled this position successfully. The Seniors of S.V. thank Mr. Hamlin for all his help.

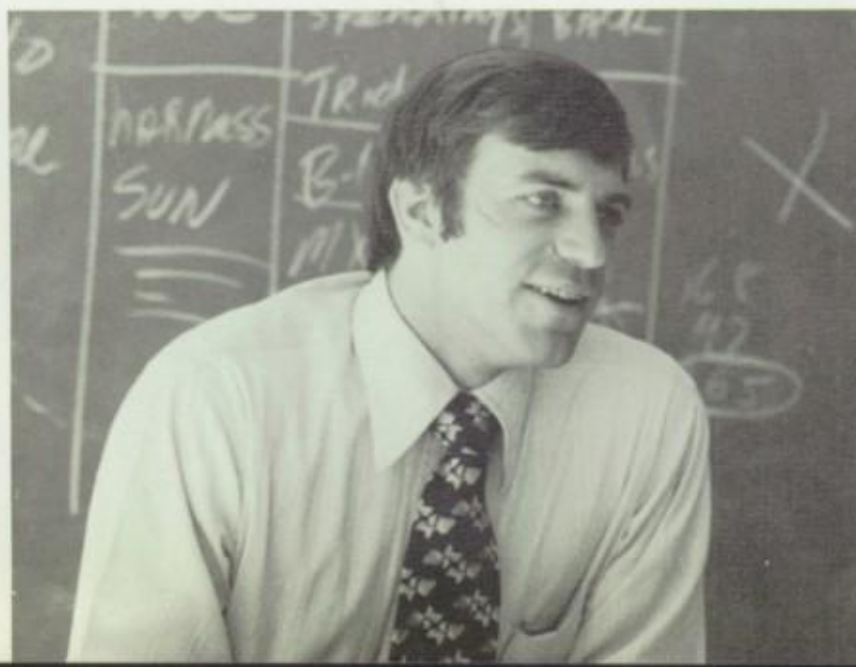

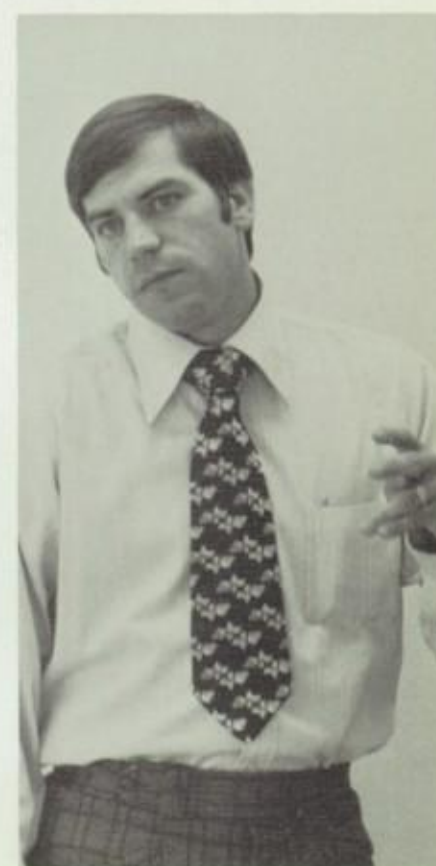

Within the short time Mr. Michael maintained the role of acting principal, he tried to organize the first few confusing weeks of our senior year while giving his help and guidance whenever it was requested.

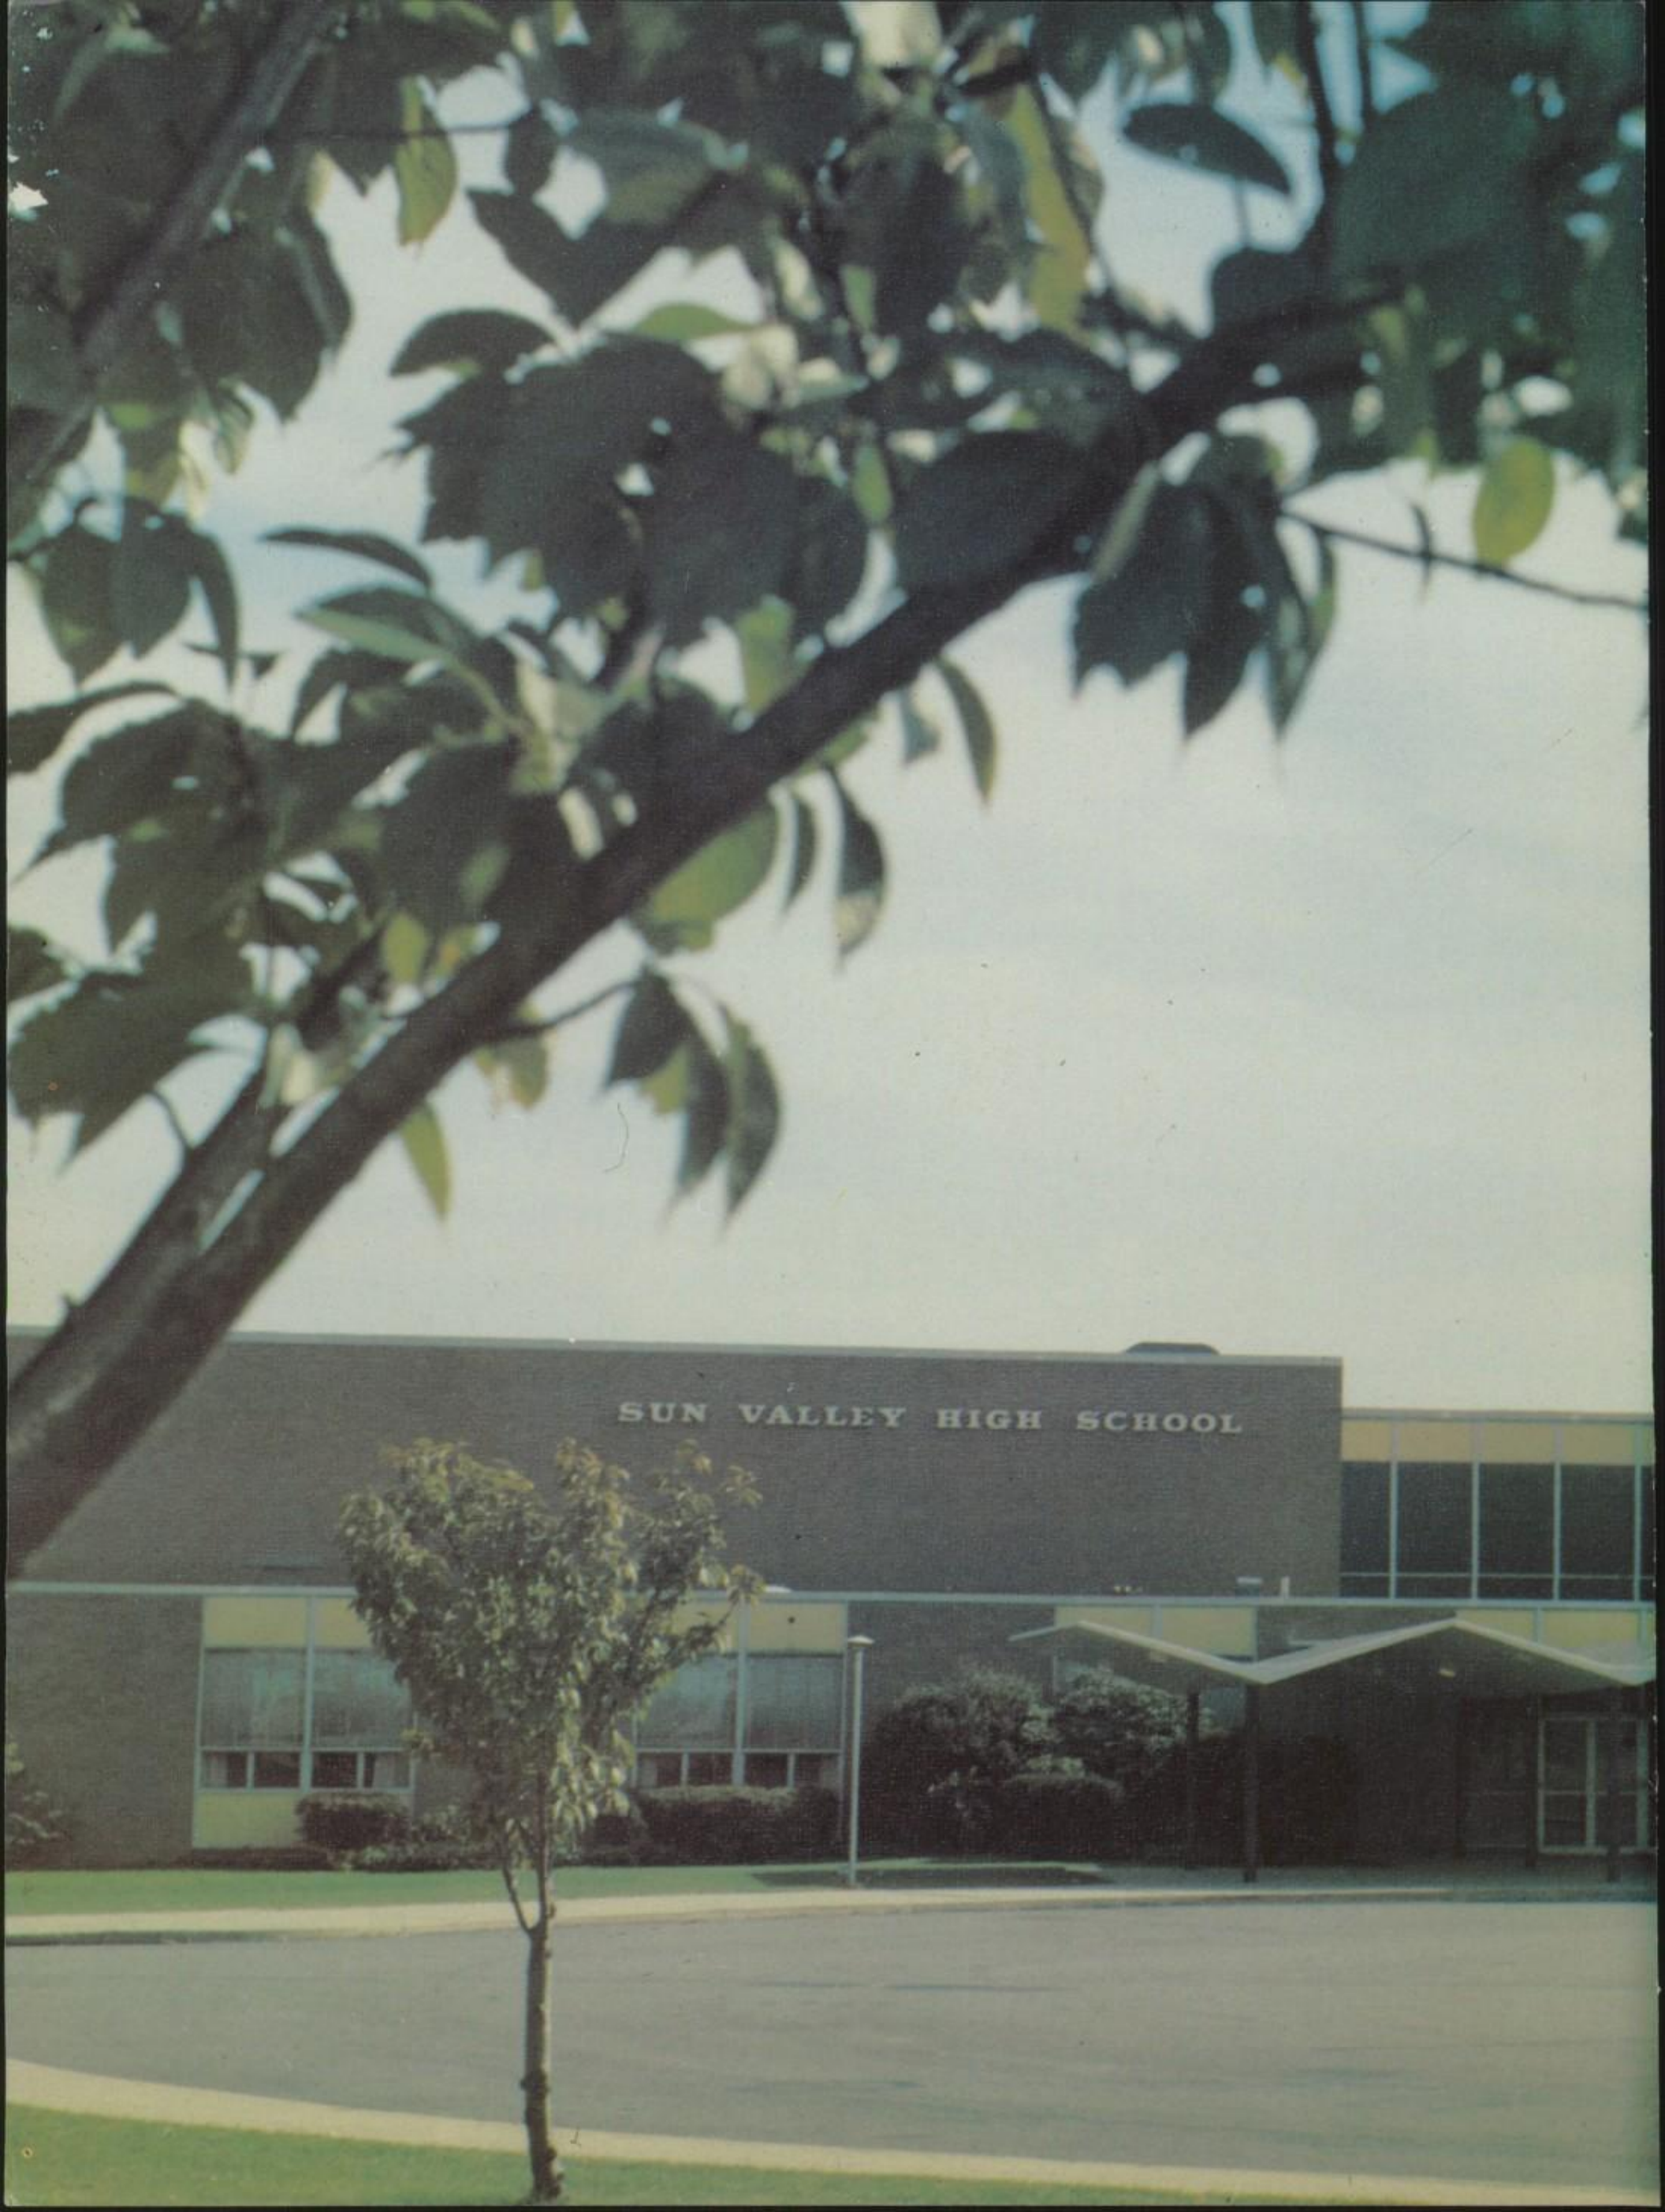

Decision-making played a major part in our senior year. To help lighten the load, Mrs. Fedena was always there to give her guidance and advice. She gave us direction to our paths in the future.

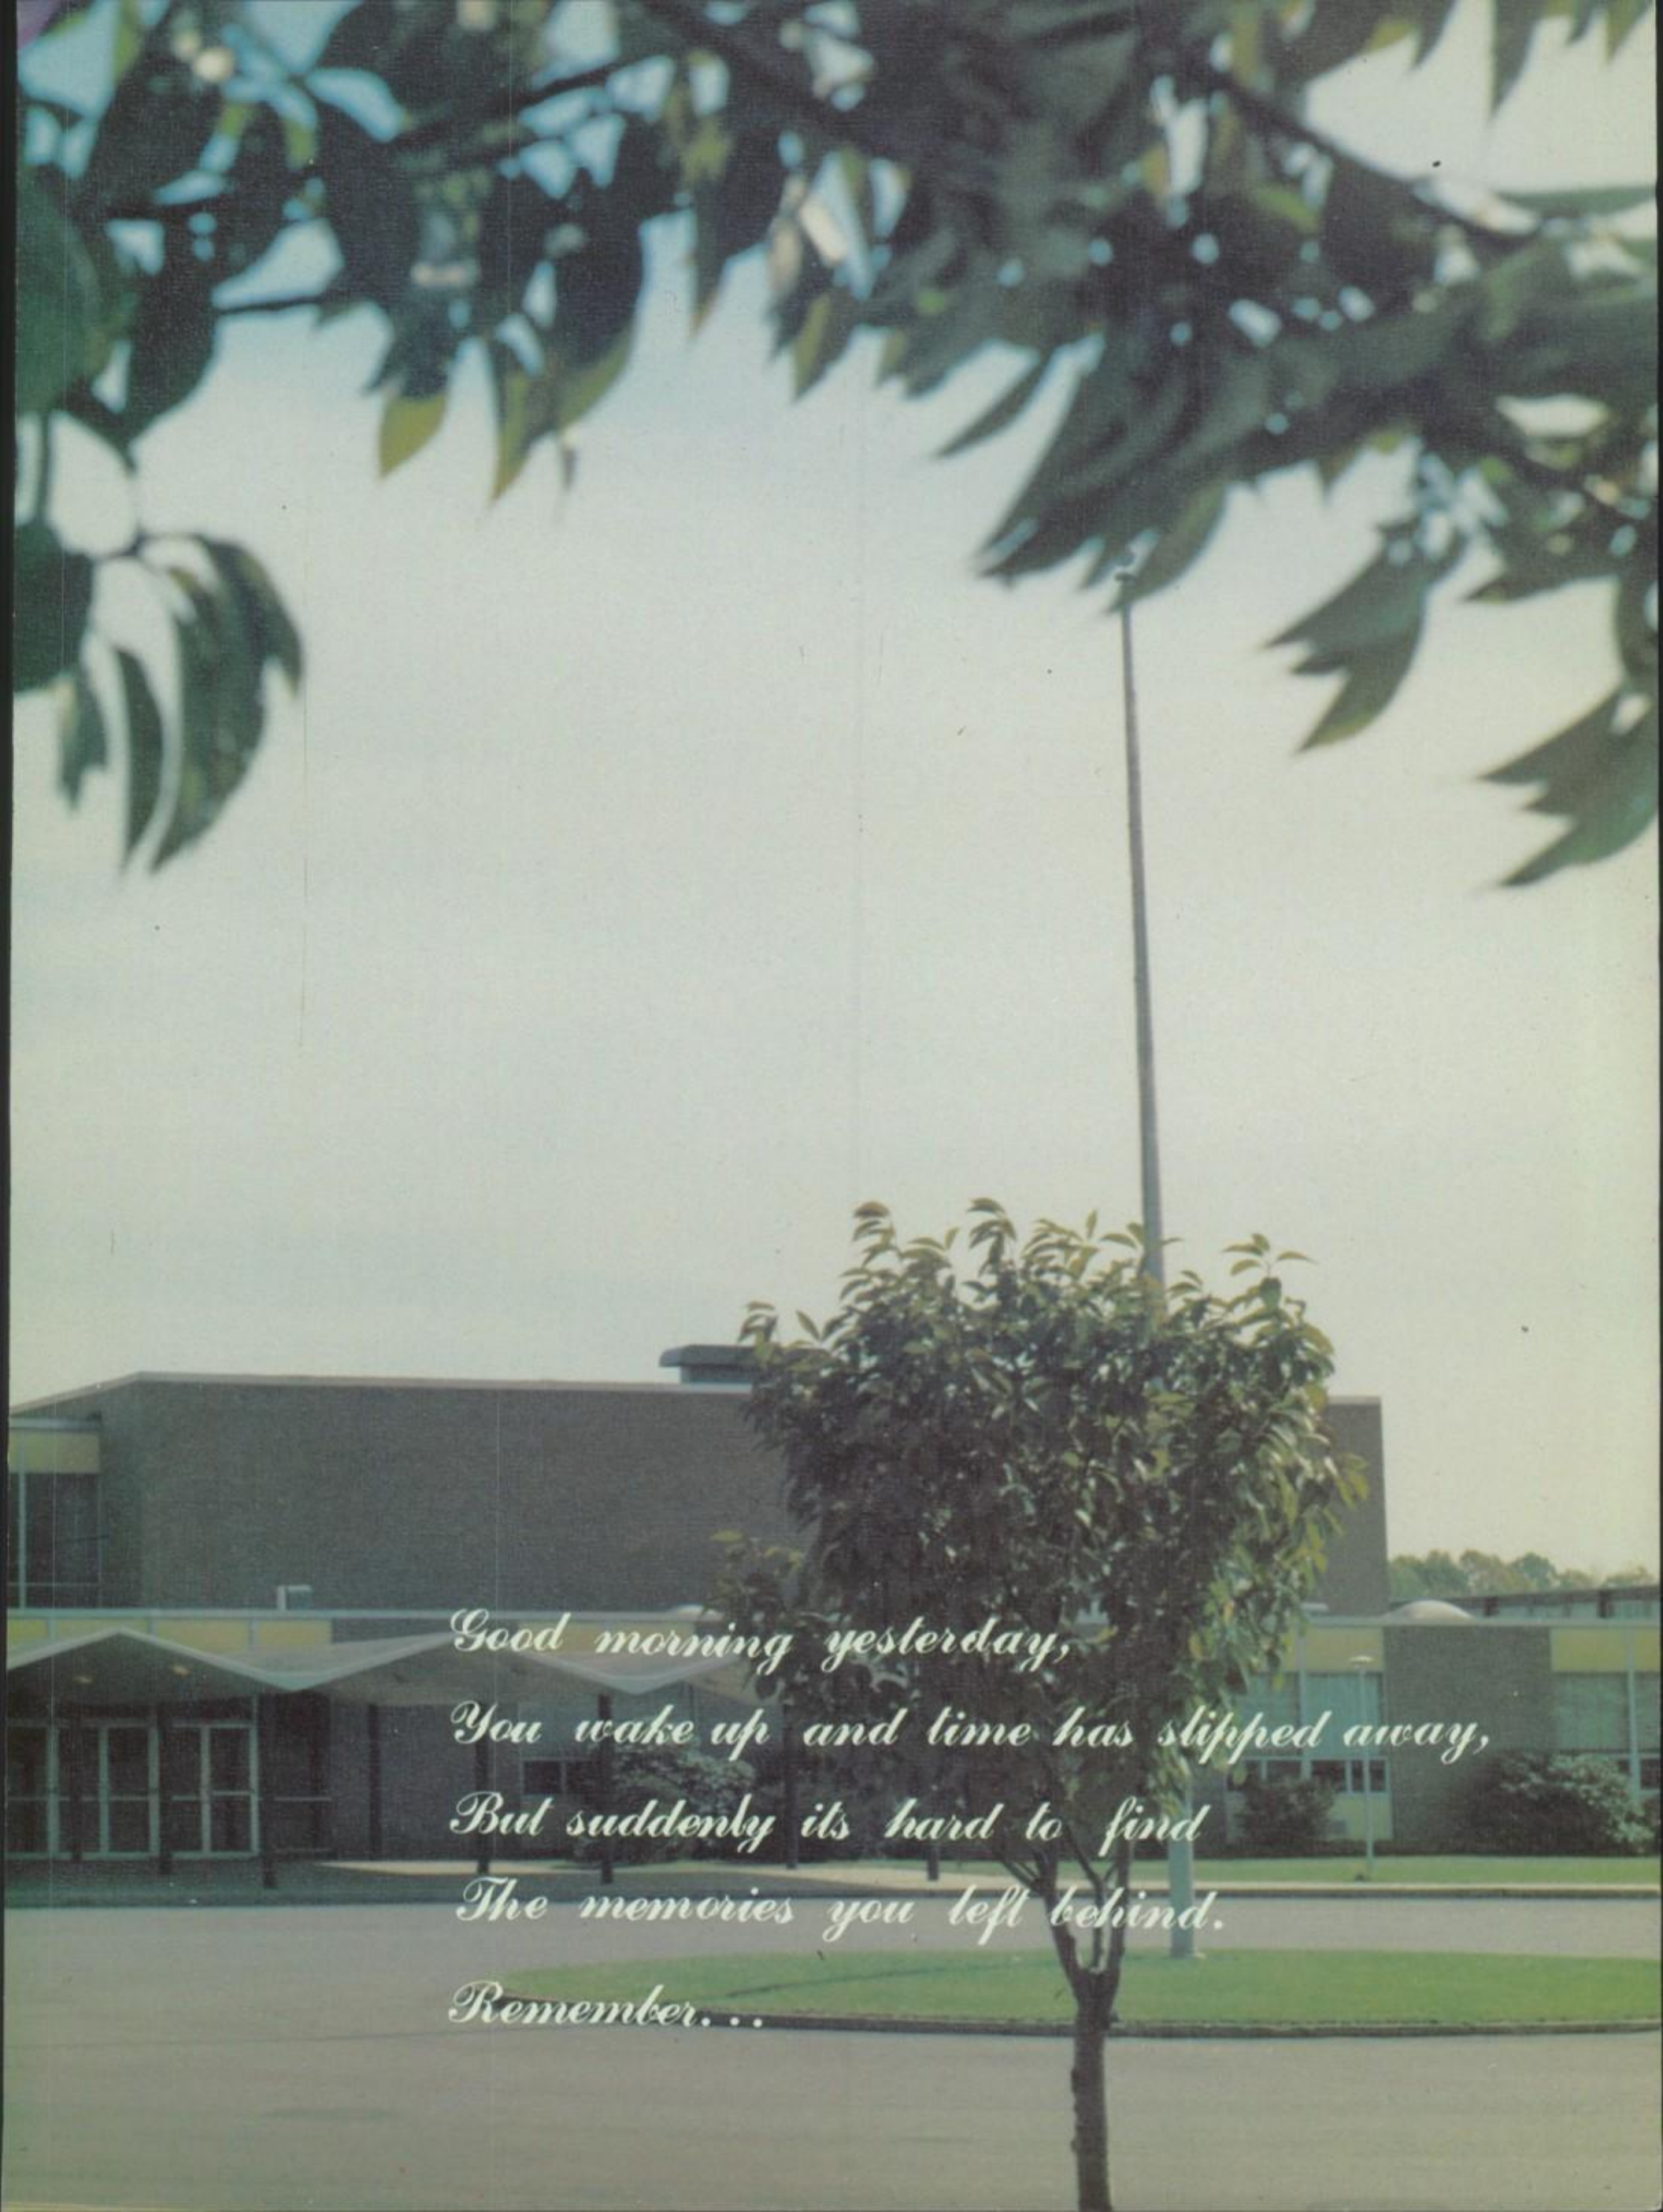

DEDICATION

As class advisor, history teacher and track coach, Mr. Lefever could always be seen helping the senior class. His versatility and spirit have kept our senior class organized, allowing us to enjoy our senior year without worry. He has handled our many problems, organized activities, and arranged the confusion of graduation with tremendous success. He will be remembered by all, with or without mustache, as the man who made our senior year the best.

SUN VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

*Good morning yesterday,
You wake up and time has slipped away,
But suddenly its hard to find
The memories you left behind.
Remember...*

... the Times of Your Life

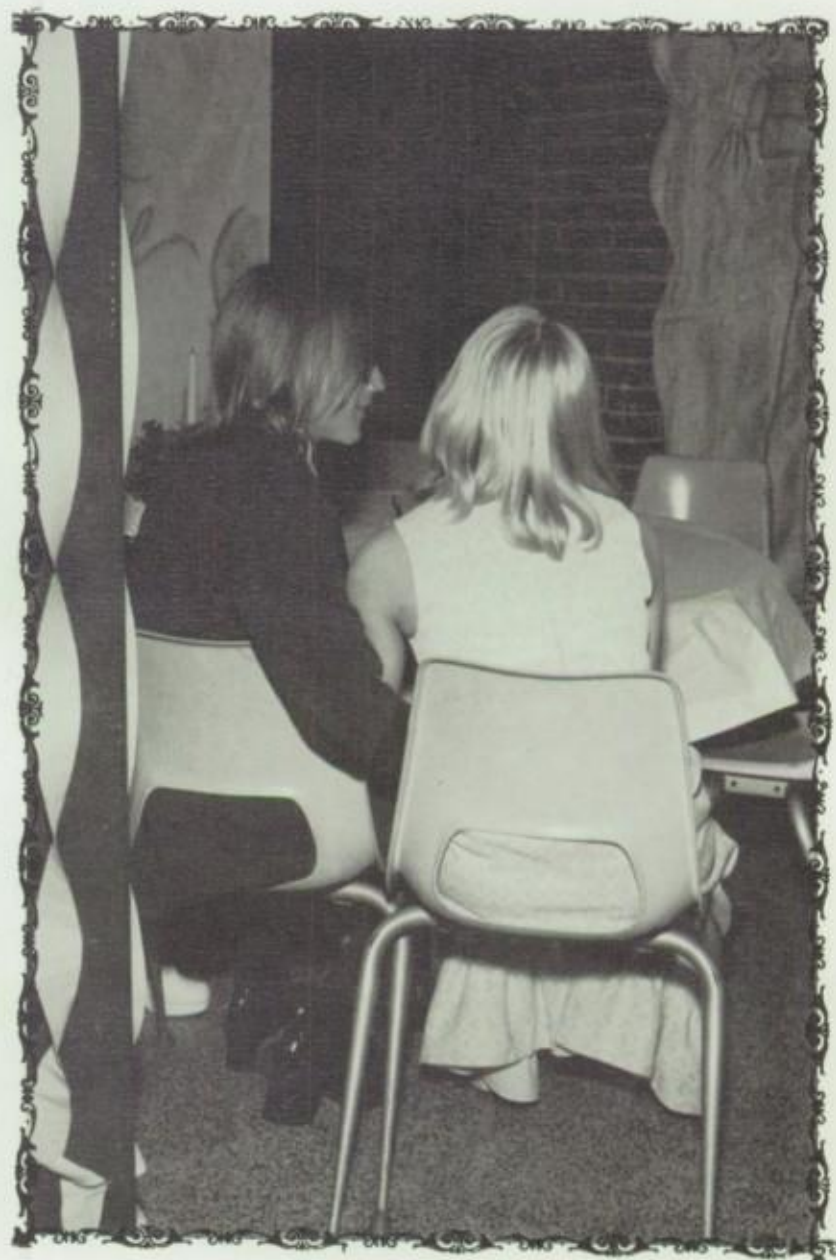

SOPHOMORE YEAR: hayride, sports jamboree,

Though we were new at the Valley in our sophomore year, we quickly became part of the fun and activities. The first big event was the Sports Jamboree in which we placed second. Who can forget our famous buttons . . . the big ball football game that went pop . . . beating the seniors in tug-o-war . . . Danny Burbage devouring a pickle . . . and the famous chariot race featuring the class advisors? The class then sponsored a hayride, followed by a bonfire. At the conclusion of our sophomore year we held our most memorable event—the Soph Hop. The theme was appropriate because it was truly “A Time For Us.”

class with class, chariot races, tartuffe, soph hop

A time for us . . .

JUNIOR YEAR: welcoming back picnic, PSAT's,

No longer were we the scorned sophs—we were juniors now, and we started that year with a whirlwind of activities. No sooner had each junior gotten his new class ring turned a seventy-seventh time by that special someone, when we undertook a magazine drive that netted $1500! Other events included the Bicentennial Sports Jamboree, and a very successful rock concert by Ezra White. In the meantime, members of our class were contributing to the entire school in a multitude of ways. Several juniors showed a flair for drama in the Drama Club's acclaimed 1976 production, Up the Down Staircase. Other classmates played an important role in the second place finish by the varsity basketball team. Nonetheless, the undeniable highlight of our junior year was "Hawaiian Paradise", the long awaited Junior Prom.

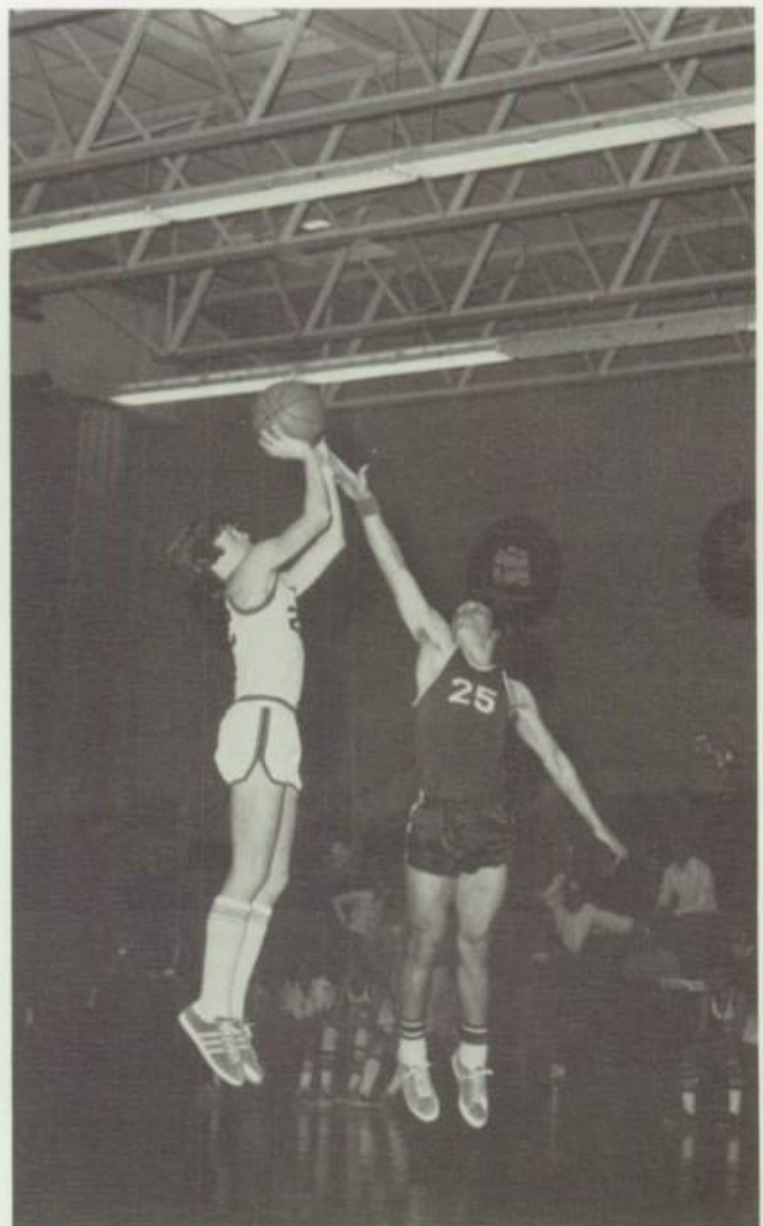

What's with you? Haven't you ever seen a guy type before?

What are you staring at?

magazine sales, rock concert, class rings, the prom

JUNIOR PROM: hula girls, pineapples, bamboo,

Take that!!!

palm trees, leis, the island, flowers, volcano, aloha

Hours of dyeing sheets, painting murals, cutting palm leaves (and palm leaves and palm leaves and MORE palm leaves), and stringing Japanese lanterns had transformed the gym into a true "Hawaiian Paradise."

Couples chattered and laughed at the tables while others bumped and hustled on the dance floor to the sounds of Ezra White. After midnight the promgoers retired to the afterprom, which was furtively planned by our parents. As five o'clock approached, many happy couples left the tropical atmosphere filled with memories.

He's all mine, girls!

SENIOR YEAR: bonfires, pep rallies, yearbooks,

Cut that out.

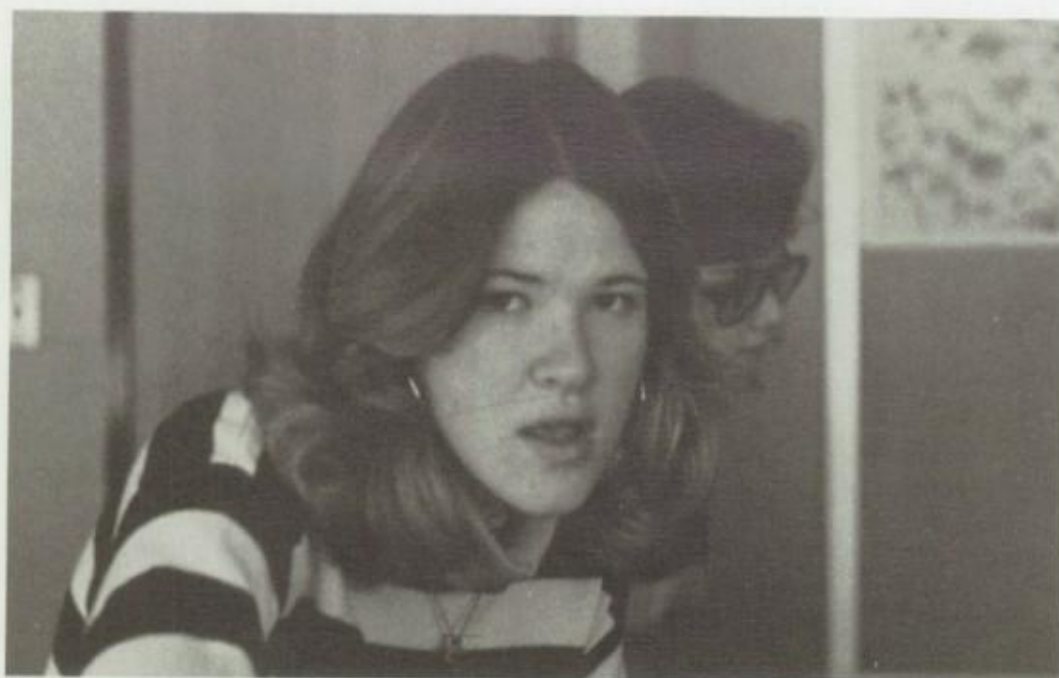

$A = L + W$

Can you keep a secret?

Bob Fithian the second.

You're kidding!

Class meetings are fun.

senior week, homecoming, senior variety show

Shake Your Booty!

Choosey mothers choose jiff.

Elaine Powers, for the full figure.

Pucker up!

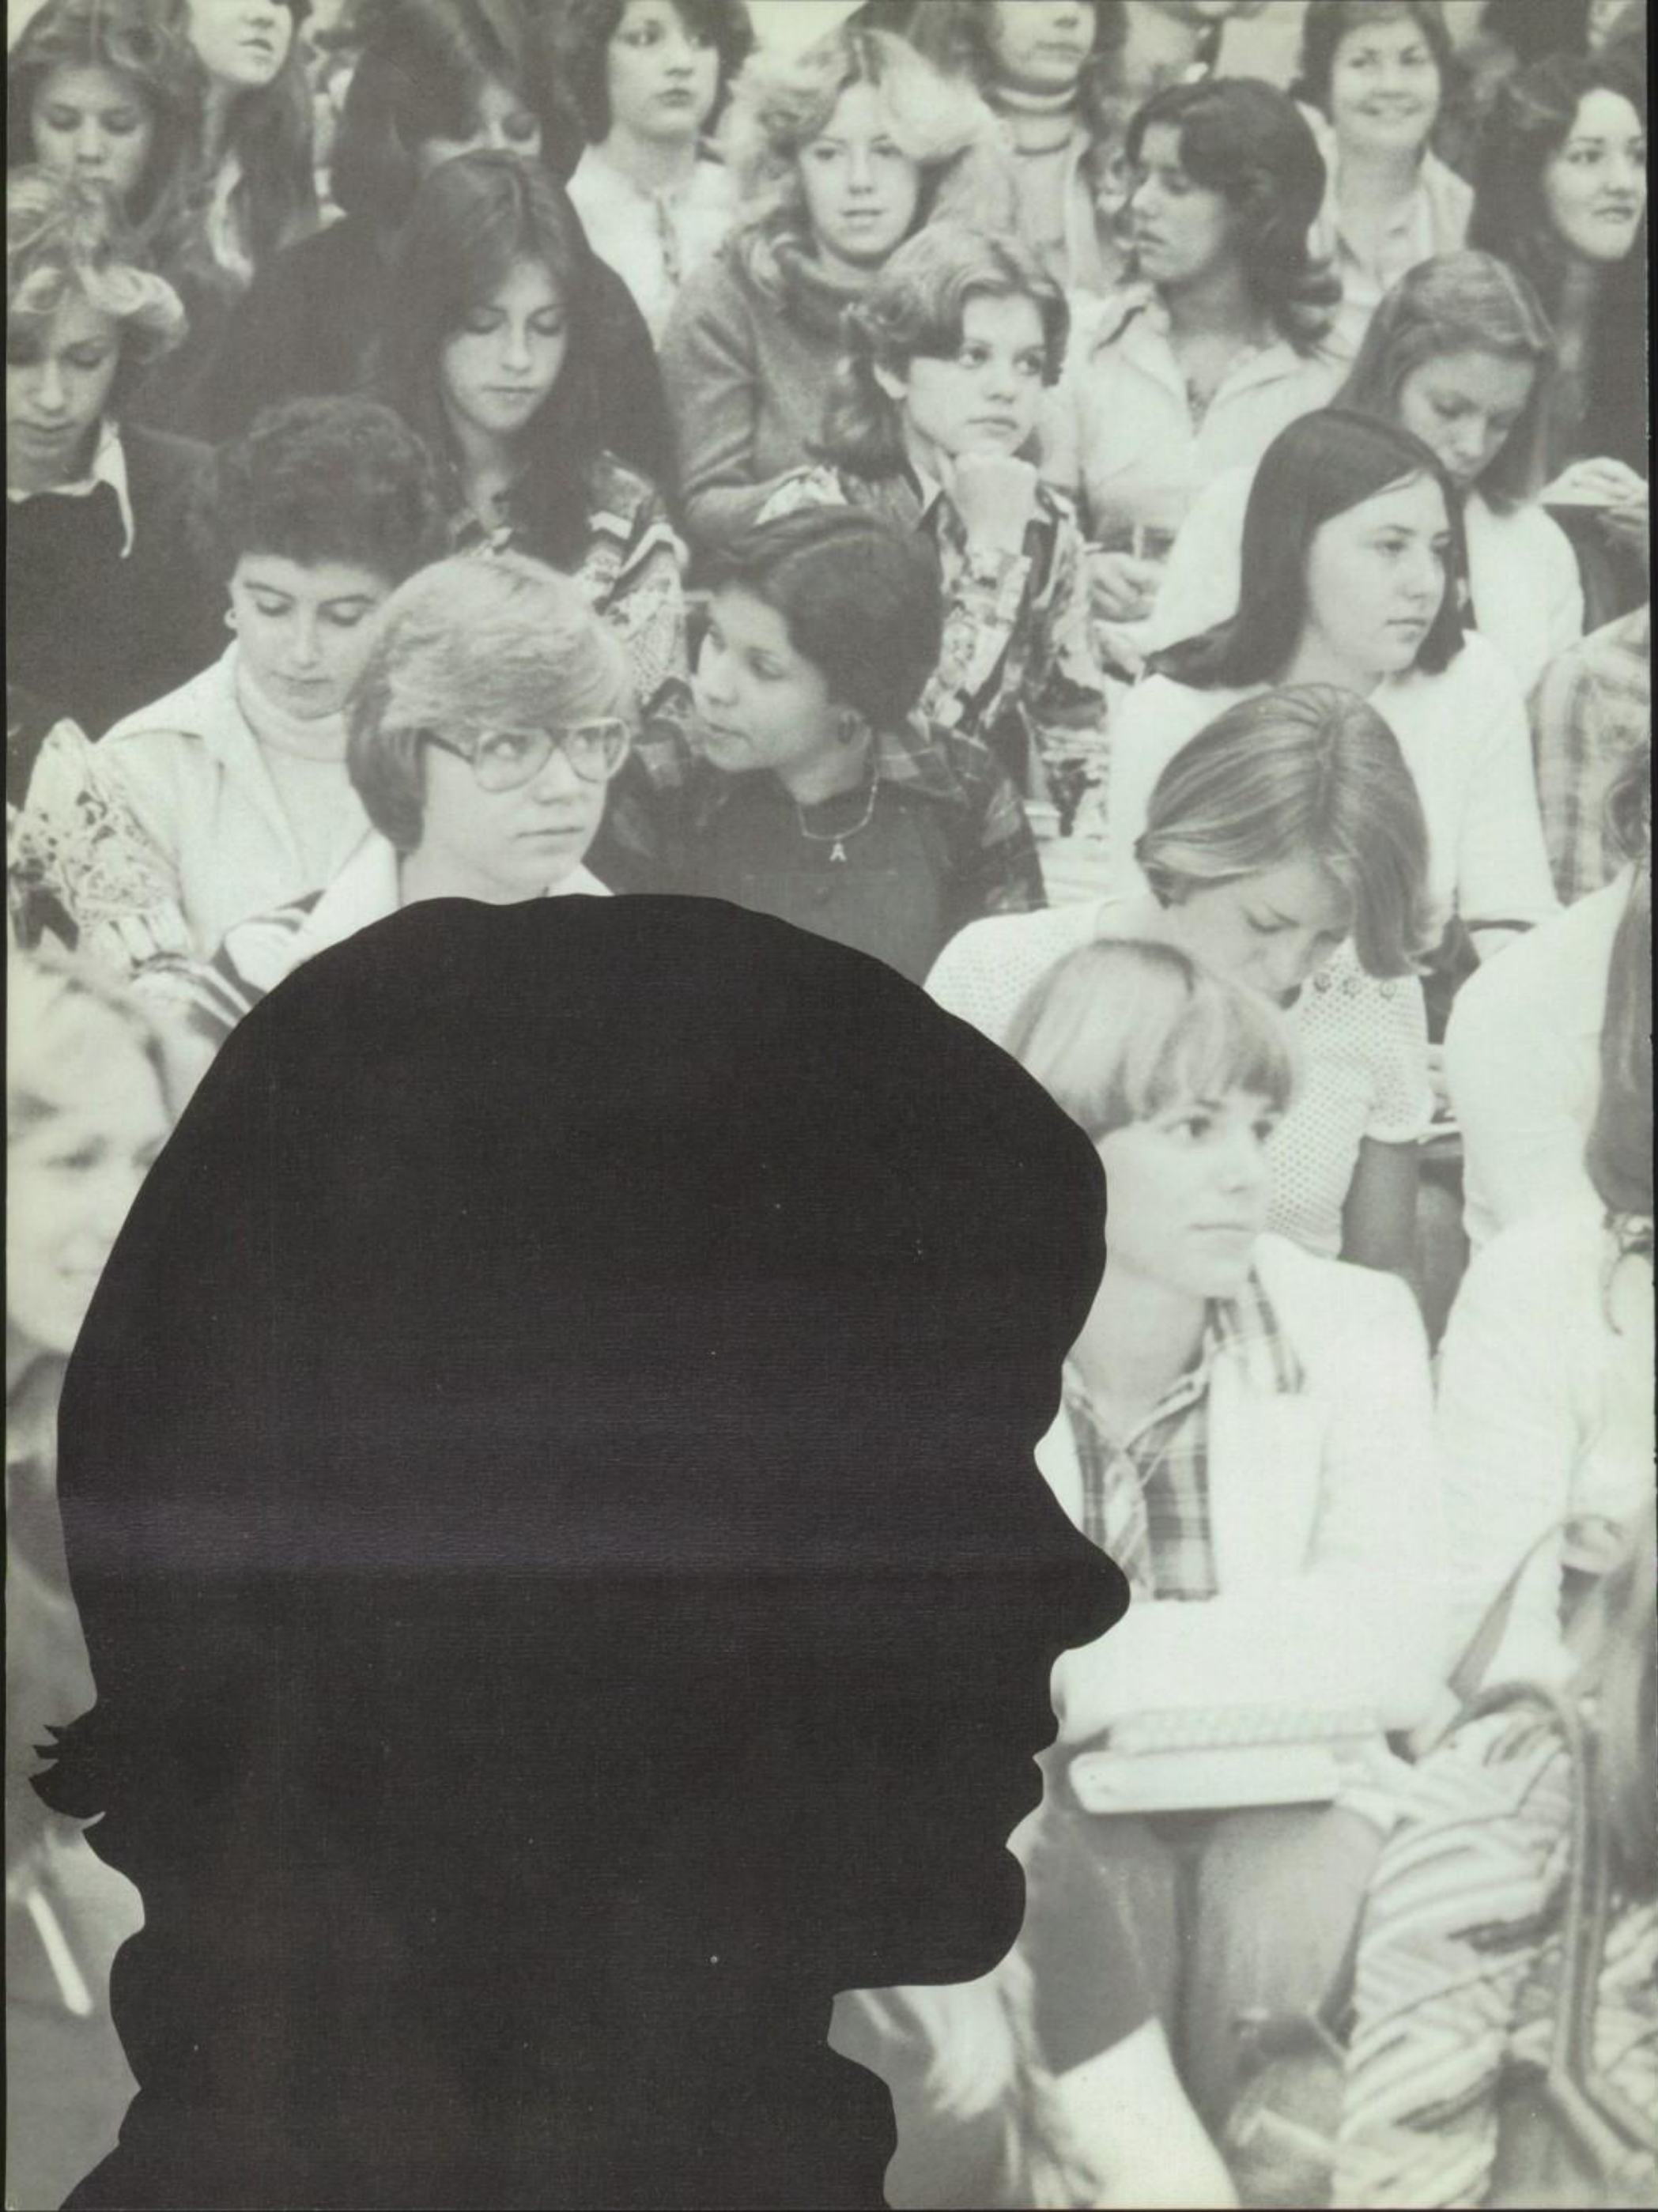

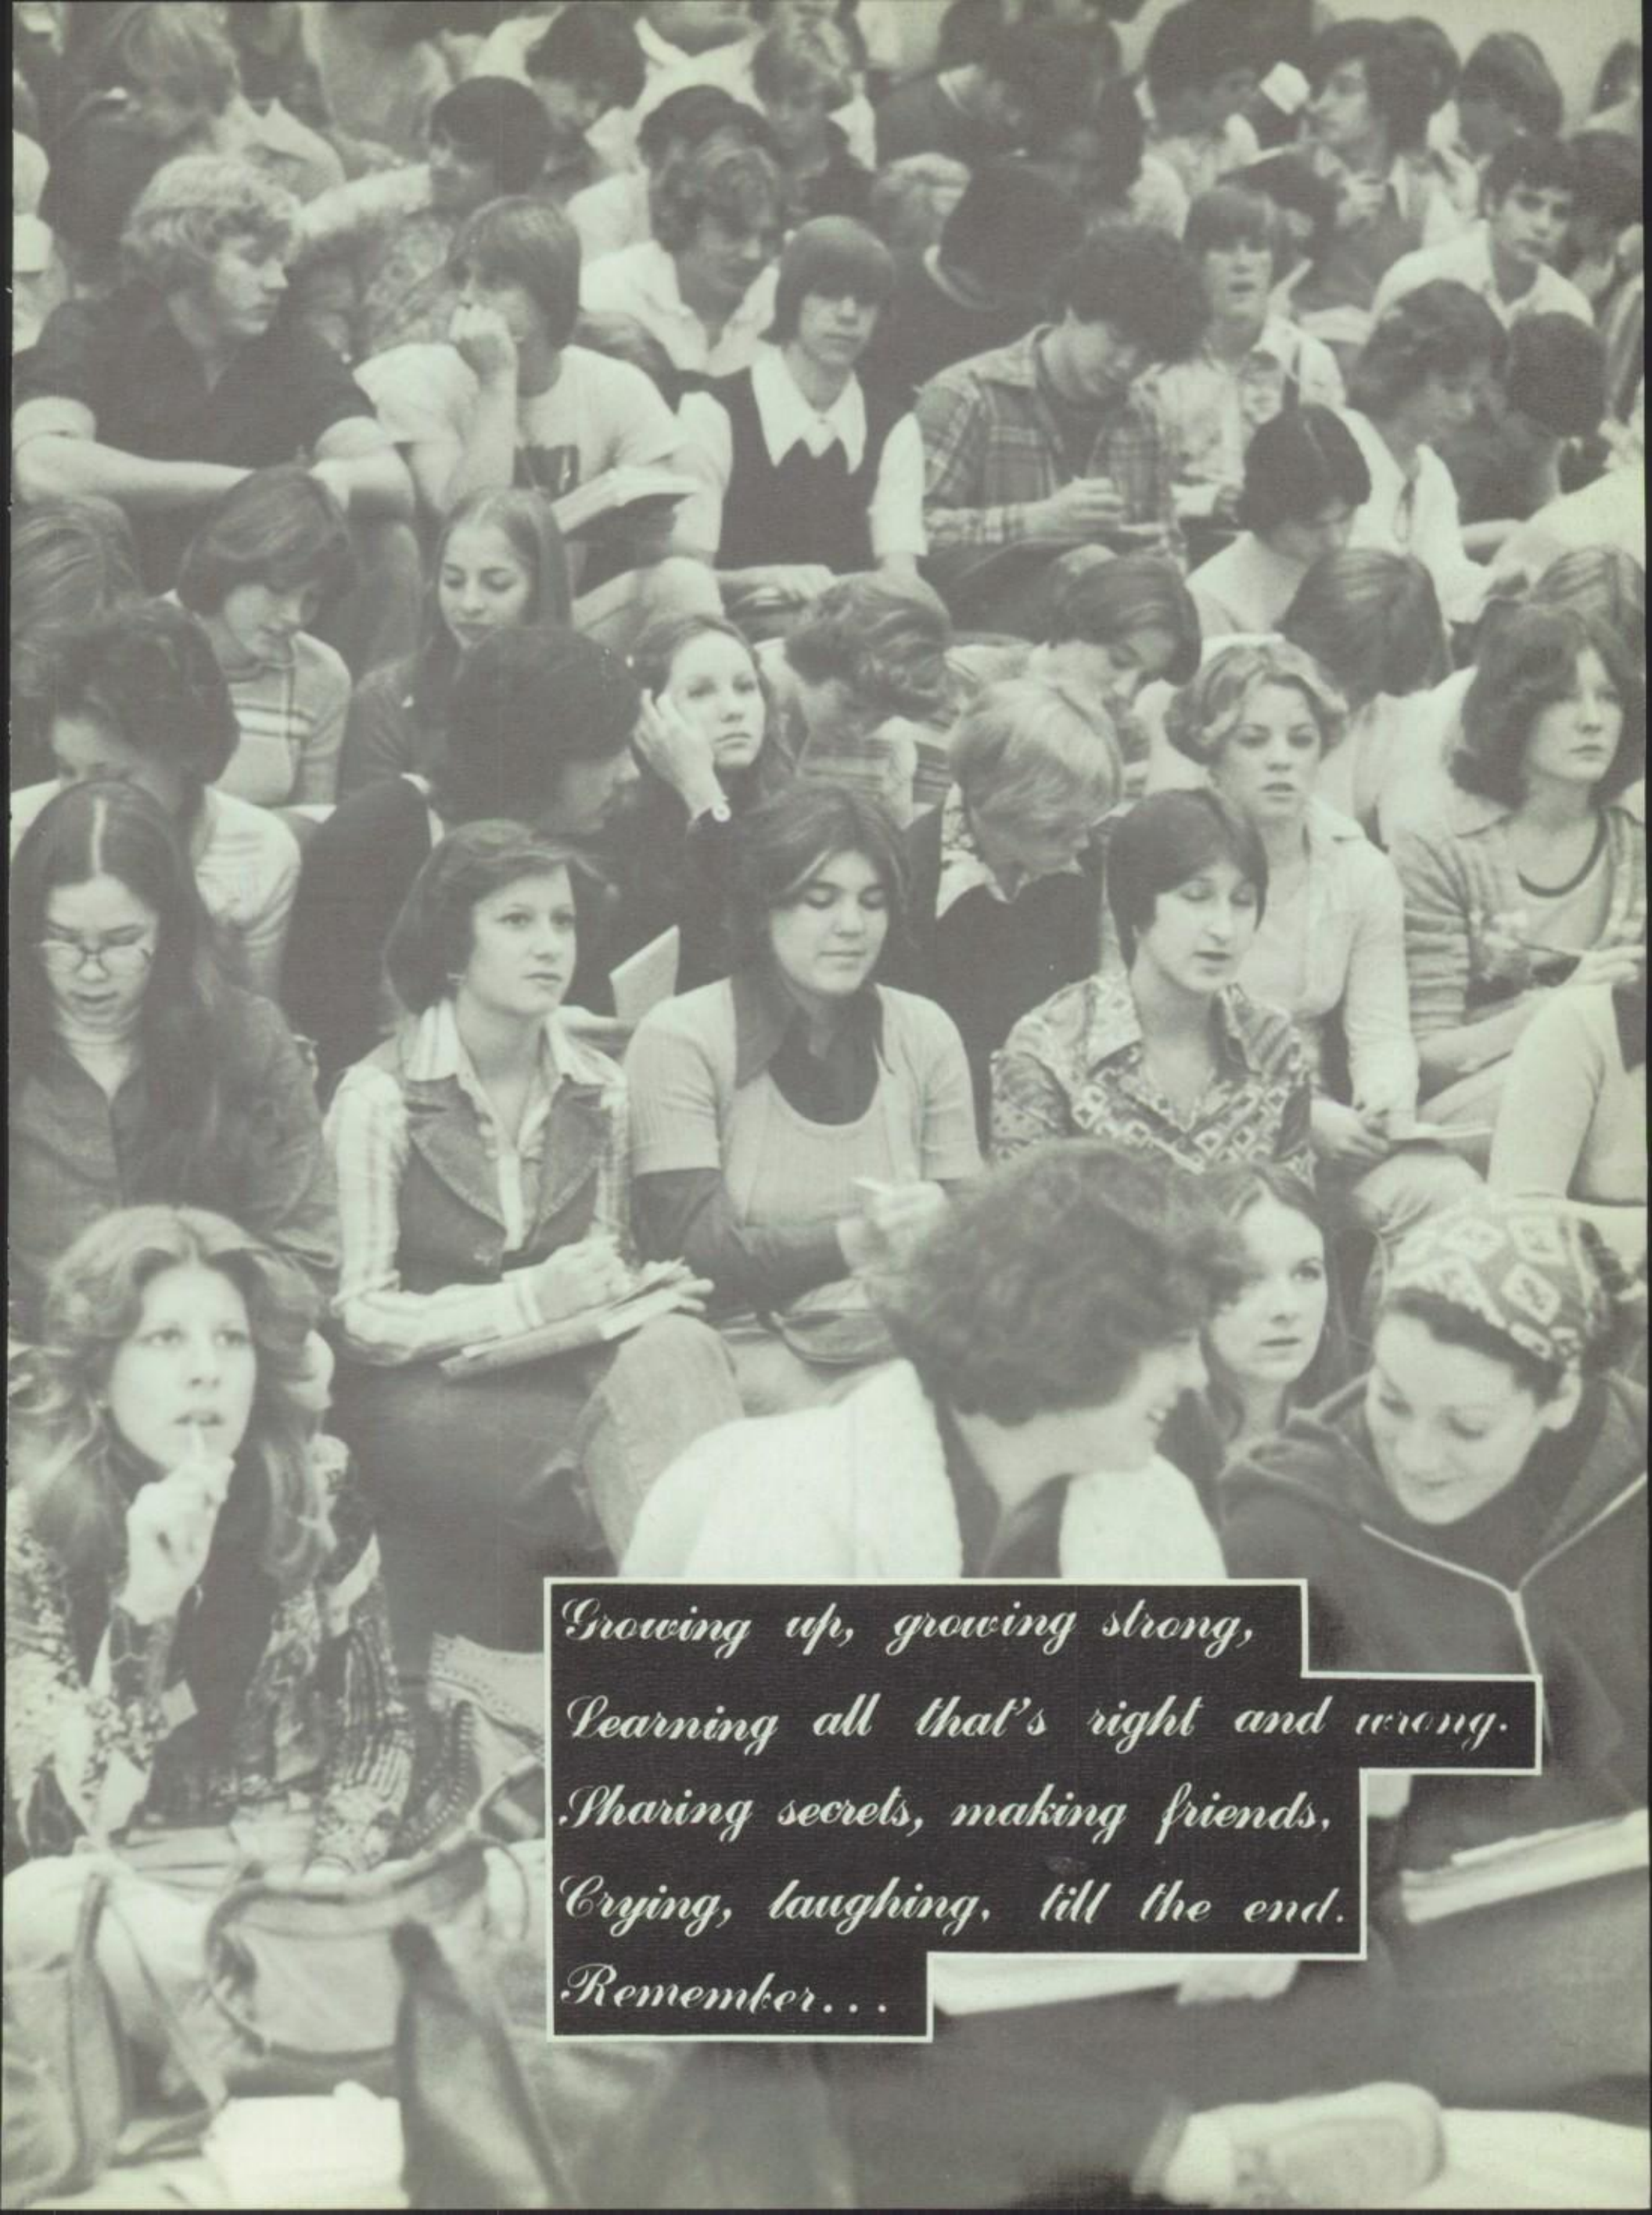

I don't wanna play tackle.

Hey Good Lookin.

*Growing up, growing strong,
Learning all that's right and wrong.
Sharing secrets, making friends,
Crying, laughing, till the end.
Remember...*

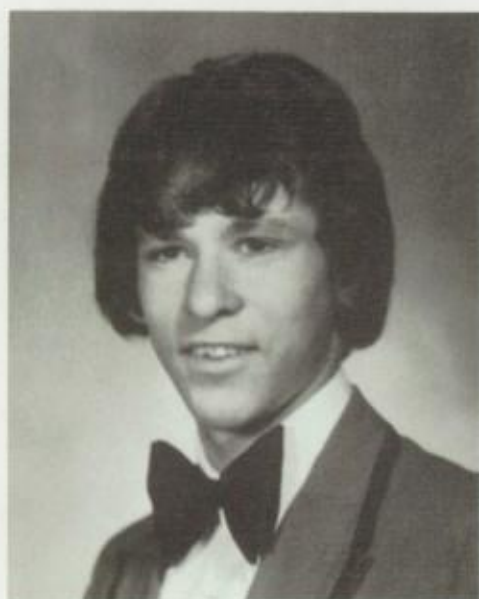

...the Times of Your Life

These are the people you've spent your years at Sun Valley with. Some are familiar, some are not. Some you clung to for security in your sophomore year. Others you developed long lasting relationships with in your later years. Some you knew only from homeroom or lunch. Others were in your classes. With some of these people you spent time at club meetings and Friday night football games. These people share memories of you and you will always share memories of them.

SENIOR OFFICERS: meetings, decisions, planning

Debbie Bailey—President

To My Fellow Classmates,

As we approach graduation, we reflect upon our past years at Sun Valley. We entered as unaware sophomores, ready to learn what the Valley had to offer. We are now leaving as knowing seniors, ready to learn what the world has to offer. As we venture out into this new environment, we will begin to encounter many challenges. Life is full of many different situations, some will prove harder than others. Yet, if we face each with the perseverance that helped us overcome the obstacles we faced in high school, the results will always be the same—as successful as we made our stay here at Sun Valley.

I wish you a lifetime of Happy Tomorrows beginning Today. Take care and God bless.

Sincerely yours,
Deborah L. Bailey

Karen Shisler—Vice President

Michelle Brooks—Secretary

Mr. Paul Lefever—Advisor

Bart Hickman—Treasurer

Many hours of planning and decision-making were a part of the senior officers duties in order to make our senior year—and all of our stay here at Sun Valley—enjoyable and memorable. Senior mugs, dues, announcement orders, class meetings, and the prom were only a few of the ways they devotedly contributed to the welfare of the class of 1977.

Evie Zdun—Historian

WHO'S WHO: talent, leadership, pride, achievement

Heading such an intricate production as SPECTRUM entails much responsibility, but DEBBIE BAILEY made The Times of Your Life a huge success while at the same time serving as class president and participating in numerous school activities.

Past yearbooks have shown the students elected to Who's Who posed as though for a portrait. However, this year's staff decided that our pictures would portray each person depicted in some aspect that won him that distinction, exhibiting the qualities that make him an excellent representative of our class.

Exhibiting much talent in various musical areas was HEATHER MATTES. Heather was an avid flutist, performing in the playing band and orchestra. However, her forte lay in the vocal field, for she earned the distinction of being selected to Pennsylvania's district chorus this past year.

It's no surprise that the Drama Club's productions were so successful; DIANE DEORIO, a very talented individual, was a part of the cast. Demonstrating her ability was the fact that she played a wide range of characters with equal proficiency. Her future plans? An acting career, of course!

Class historian EVIE ZDUN was always one of the more active participants in the many activities our class sponsored. Evie's involvement in the proms, picnics, fund-raising events, and other undertakings helped to create much of the fond remembrances that she collected and saved in our class scrapbook—one of her responsibilities as historian.

JAY DOUGHERTY's participation in our two football championships and the boys' basketball and track teams won him the honor of being named Sun Valley's Evening Bulletin Scholar-Athlete. Jay's excellent grades were also responsible for his attaining this merit.

An avid dancer, MICHELLE BROOKS helped make the Psychedelic Shack Dance one of the more popular acts of "Saturday Nite Jive." But Michelle's creativity was not limited to the stage; she contributed many ideas as class secretary, with positive results.

DEBBIE FEASTER displayed an interest in the creative arts. She was a talented saxophonist with the stage band, but she also played a critical but unrecognized part at dramatic productions, working backstage with the Stage Crew.

BART HICKMAN was constantly busy due to his hectic schedule. Besides holding such responsible and demanding positions as class treasurer, Student Senate president, and Interact vice-president, he managed to squeeze in time for football practice while maintaining high grades in difficult courses.

Sun Valley girls' track history spans only three years, but LISA KRETZ helped create some of it as an outstanding sprinter and jumper. Other sports interested Lisa as well; as a wrestlerette she ardently supported our matmen.

Aiding the unsure to plan their future was JANE MIDDLETON, one of the helpful student volunteers who ran the new Career Resource Center. Jane's own post-graduation plans include majoring in education of the deaf at Penn State.

Our marching band experienced its best competing season ever, due to the leadership and experience of seniors like flag girl KATHY GLYSHAW. Kathy always gave a total effort despite her difficult schedule and her involvement in many, many activities.

To best be able to represent the opinions of one's fellow students, a Student Senate member must show a true concern for their needs. This was one reason CHRIS SANTORE was so well liked by her classmates. This quality should also insure Chris much future success as a psychologist.

An exceptional student, BUDD KANIEFSKI brought a great deal of prestige to himself and to Sun Valley by winning a National Merit Scholarship. However, pursuing his studies did not occupy all of Budd's time; he was also a member of the football team and Ecology Club.

Keeping students posted on the latest news-making events was one of many responsibilities MARY BETH EBNER handled as our representative to "A Younger Voice." Mary Beth also served the student body as a member of Student Senate and numerous other clubs.

Despite many setbacks and the initial absence of an advisor, editor JEAN KRAUS kept the presses rolling with copies of our student newspaper, The Voice of The Valley. She also devised several innovations of interest outside of school that boosted readership.

"S-P-I-R-I-T, it's great to see we've got it," was the cry of Sun Valley's most enthusiastic cheerleader, FRAN URBANI. Fran also displayed a flair for singing and dance in the Variety Show. However, her most noticeable asset was the amiable personality that endeared her to all.

One of our more versatile students was TERRI ELMER. Among her many roles were that of student, ranking first in our class; athlete, as one of the pioneers of girls' track; and musician, taking part in the band's outstanding competitive season of 1976. Terri was interested in theatrics as well; she was a member of the cast of "Saturday Nite Jive," and she helped things run smoothly backstage at Drama Club productions with the Stage Crew.

Serving as business manager of SPECTRUM and handling some financial aspects of running the senior class were some of the ways KAREN SHISLER polished her business skills for a planned career as a secretary.

Well-known for his wit and congeniality, JERRY SAUERS brightened every occasion. Despite his easygoing personality, he treated athletics and academics seriously, earning him respect in both areas.

As historian of the Future Nurse's Club, JANICE WELLS was one of Mrs. Kirchdoerfer's friendly aides who helped create that cheerful atmosphere that the nurse's office was known for. In addition, she received valuable experience in the medical field, an area she hopes to enter upon majoring in physical therapy at the University of Delaware.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES: outstanding, terrific, great

The seniors that were selected for senior superlatives have the honor of knowing that they were the most outstanding or prominent in their category. They should be truly proud to be a superlative in the class of '77.

SATURDAY NITE JIVE

Sun Valley's fourth annual Variety Show, "Saturday Nite Jive," was presented by the Senior Class on February 10 & 11. It was a great success and was seen by over 1500 people, the biggest crowd in four years. Under the direction of Mr. Harrison Hamlin, 75 seniors worked almost every night for three months on the show to raise money for our class, and the same time, give everyone who saw it a night of fun and entertainment.

Besides raising the much-needed money, the Variety Show gave us an opportunity to get to know our classmates better and to bring us closer together. We are very grateful to everyone who helped us put the show on, and we hope that future classes have as much fun as we had putting together Saturday Nite Jive. We know ours will always be the best!

The date was October 22 when Sun Valley won the football game against West Chester East and announced their Homecoming Queen all in the same night. At the game, the crowd impatiently awaited halftime, when the queen was to be announced. Finally the time arrived and the court was presented to proclaim their queen, Connie Nicolaides. The crowd responded to the decision with an applause of approval.

"Hey foxy"

The event was the Sun Valley 1977 Christmas Ball. "Have A Holly Jolly Christmas" was the theme. The date was December 18th. The atmosphere was joyful. As the night went on and the Queen, Lisa Miner, was announced, everyone began to feel the air of Christmas approaching. Successful? You can bet your elves on it!

Demonstrating what a lot of work, dedication, and desire to win can do, the soccer team fulfilled a preseason prediction by placing second in the extremely competitive Section II league. Several shutouts and near upsets were among the year's highlights. Many fine individual performances were turned in—as was shown by the placing of four members on the league all-star team—yet the efforts of the entire team made this season a success.

The Girls' Basketball team demonstrated their pride and skill strongly this year. Hard practices and workouts were met with determination, which paid off. Overall, they were 7-10, but in League Games, they won 7 of the 12, and those are the ones that count. Also, this year's team consisted entirely of underclassmen, and they worked hard. When next year comes, they should be prepared to put out all their effort and talent.

Through numerous practices and determination, the members of the boys' basketball team developed their talents to form a team with an exciting season. Wrestling means something special to each individual and each agrees it is a rewarding experience. Wrestling is a combination team sport and individual sport. The guys support each other completely and they have worked hand in hand towards success. Leadership, discipline, and the thrill of wrestling for the championship are the assets most valuable to these athletes. This year the Sun Valley wrestlers continued the team's winning tradition. They competed in a tough Christmas tournament at Ridley where Steve Pascale and Ed Lanciano were runners-up. Highlighting the season was the school's 100th win, a shutout over Garnet Valley. In the last three years the seniors have an outstanding over-all record of 32-7-3 and a league record of 24-1-1. This record has made our wrestlers sure that the hard work was worth it all, and left them with something to be proud of.

BAND: musicians, majorettes, flag girls, rifles,

Director: Mr. Stauffer

Through strong patience and persistence, Mr. Stauffer has guided the band in collaborating their full talents and potential, making their performances exciting and spectacular to all who see it. Their achievements are plentiful, fulfilling their "Year of Desire" with 1st place trophies from various parades and competitions.

The band would never be complete, though, without the musicians who play the notes that give the Sun Valley Marching Band its beat.

The success of the band has proven, once again, Sun Valley is No. 1.

With her unquestionable command, drum majorette Cindy Swartz has led the band into many victorious events.

pom-poms, practice, competitions, trophies, SUCCESS!

The colorguard, with distinguished dignity, presents the band at each performance. Following this presentation, the flag squad demonstrates a versatility in movement with their style and precise timing. This "technique" adds a special flair to the band making each performance stand out above others.

Warming the crowds with their bright smiles, the high-stepping majorettes fascinated all with their techniques of twirling. The feature twirler, too, displayed her difficult routines with ease and poise that showed everyone "they" had it altogether.

The Ecology Club provided the means for its members to escape to the unspoiled sections of the country. Many will remember the view from the summit of the Pinnacle. Hopefully, in that memory lies the beginnings of an attitude which will insure the preservation of undeveloped areas, so that the future generations may have similar experiences.

Mrs. Kirchdoerfer, and FNC officers: Chris Clark, Janice Wells, Debbie Panko, Liz Howard, and Cindy Armstrong.

The Future Nurses Club at Sun Valley does a lot, but is not often heard about. The smiling girl selling you your football program may someday be smiling at you in her white nurse's uniform, as she is a future nurse. The girls work in the nurse's office, and a few girls each year get the opportunity to work with Dr. Walichuck. The girls compete on a point system for scholarships given by the club. Points are earned by attending meetings, helping in the nurses office, taking blood pressures, and by selling programs. The FNC is a club which works hard and long all year round by trying to help people be happy.

One of Interact's more active members.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club, Interact is our largest organization. The club has organized many activities to promote school spirit. But without a doubt, their biggest under-taking was Carnation Day, when kids could send a carnation to a loved one, a favorite teacher, or a friend. Interact's most important role is not only serving the school but the community as well.

Interviews, Feature stories, Jokes, Reviews . . . All are important in making a good newspaper; and The Voice of the Valley, our school newspaper, included these, plus a few extra additions in each issue. These additions included questionnaires and information on such current topics as Drug Abuse, Teenage Suicide and Birth Control and Concert Review, which featured such groups as Blue Oyster Cult, ELO and Bruce Springsteen. Through continuous hard work and creativity, the Newspaper Staff reported every three weeks to keep the students informed about events occurring in school and the community.

A five hour bus ride may not seem to promise a spectacular evening, but the Ski Club bus ride to Connecticut was an exciting and fun adventure. After leaving Sun Valley on Friday afternoon, the members aboard the buses talked, sang, and gossiped—and all the fun did not stop when they reached their destination at 9 p.m. that night! In the morning everyone wearily readied themselves for skiing after devouring their breakfast. The twenty-minute bus ride to the Powder Ridge ski area was a quiet one, for everyone was either tired from last night's escapades or was nervously awaiting their first experience on the slopes. Since skiing was a new and frightening experience for many, lessons were given by an instructor at the bottom of the beginner's slope. After trying for an hour to teach us just how to stop, he finally gave up and set us free to learn the hard way—on our own! After gathering all their courage, one group rode the high ski lift and attempted to slide down the beginner's hill. Laughter, falling, screaming, hurting, and retrying all filled the afternoon with fun. After eating dinner that night, everyone set out for more fun. Swimming, dancing, and many parties were possibilities of entertainment for Saturday night. Sunday morning came too soon and it showed on everyone's face at breakfast. Skiing was planned and the most daring and least exhausted individuals went. At 4 p.m. everyone boarded the bus to return home. Contrary to what you might think, they were all wide awake and singing in full harmony. The weekend went quickly and is now just a blur of memories, but it was a trip to remember for all.

Those students who did not plan on furthering their education after high school could take advantage of the Work Experience program offered here at Sun Valley. This opportunity lent participants the benefits of observing, through first-hand experience, the world of employment. Students involved scheduled half a day of regular classes and half a day of work at various occupations throughout Aston and surrounding communities. In this way, Work Experience members obtained a valuable educational experience that they could not otherwise obtain at school.

What's the first thing that comes to your mind when you hear the word "wrestlerettes"? Girl wrestlers? No, these were a group of girls who took an active part in cheering our wrestling team on to victory. At every wrestling match, you could hear them yelling and cheering, even while they were taking stats. They even traveled to the away matches, to back up our team. These girls truly earned credit for encouraging spirit and an interest in wrestling at the Valley.

After High School—What?

Though you have now successfully completed twelve years of public education, many new challenges lie ahead—further education, learning a trade, participating in community activities. Each day should bring some new richness to your life and to those with whom you associate. Success comes to those who continue to grow in wisdom and knowledge, for as an old Chinese proverb has said so aptly: "Learning is like rowing upstream; not to advance is to fall back."

Wm. G. Moser
Superintendent of Schools

PRINCIPALS: ruling, organizing, caring

CHARLES B. FITZGERALD
*University of Pennsylvania M.A.
Principal*

Although I have not had the opportunity to follow your progress over three years, I am impressed by the outstanding achievements of the Class of 1977 in both academics and activities. Throughout the year, I have come to know many of the individuals in your class. Their enthusiasm, diligence, and character have honored your class and contributed to a fruitful year at Sun Valley High School.

Growth is a process, not a state. Your commencement is the end of your school life at Sun Valley; however, it is the beginning of realizing your future life goals. I hope that some skill, some strength, some confidence, or some human relationship that you developed here will support you and aid you in your endeavors.

RICHARD P. MILLER
*Villanova University M.Ed.
Assistant Principal*

Checking students for passes, giving out detentions and making parent conferences are just a few responsibilities of the Assistant Principals. Why do Mr. Bolyard and Mr. Miller constantly hassle the students with such authoritative measures? Because they care! They care not only about correct behavior in school right now, but also the students' behavior for the future. By enforcing strict rules of obedience, the assistant principals have simplified the students' task of adjusting to the world after graduation.

ENGLISH: words, sentences, compositions, novels,

From Poe to Hemingway, from verse to prose, noun to verb, and research to speech, the English teachers have done their utmost to introduce just about every outlet of the English language to their students. Although it's true that we have not become a Shakespeare or Frost, we all have grown in wisdom because of our one and only very special English Department.

SOCIAL STUDIES: history, cultures, psychology

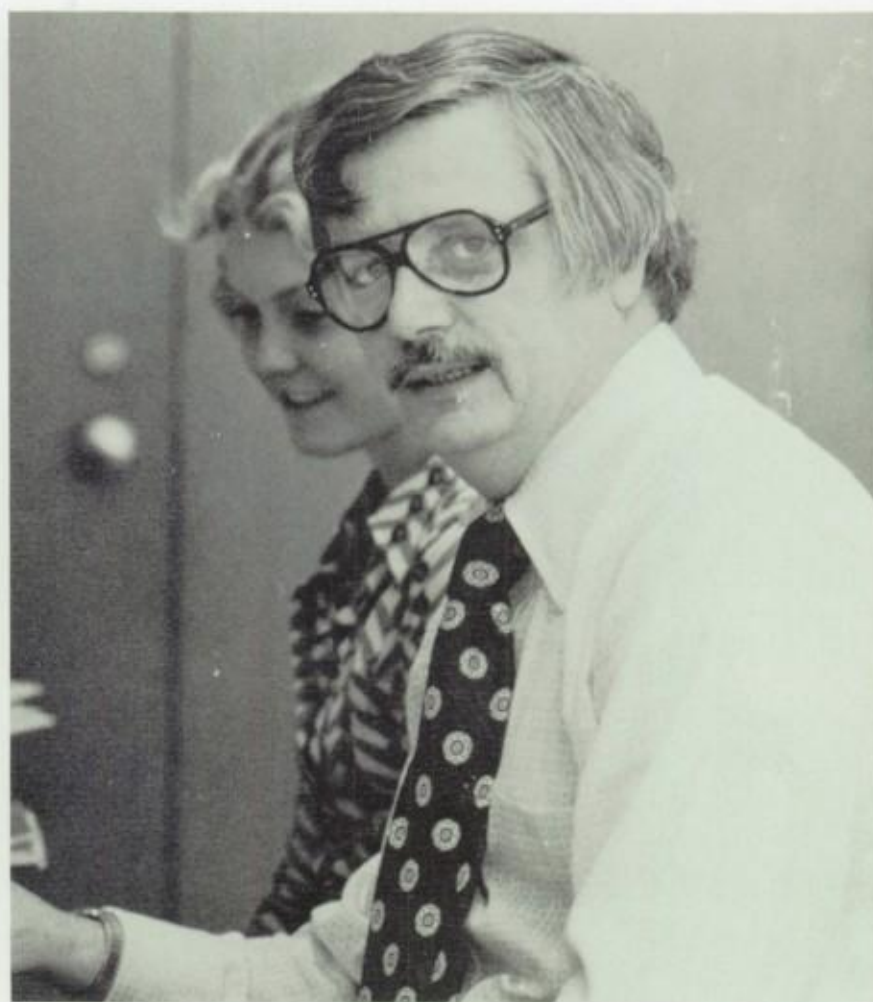

The social studies curriculum exposed Sun Valley students to many aspects of the social sciences, including history, culture, economics, and psychology. Through courses in these areas, the teachers led their students through wars, introduced them to presidents, and took them to foreign places. They encouraged their students to learn from the past, live in the present, and look ahead to the future.

Science classes were a useful foundation for all students. For those interested in continuing their education in the science field, whether it be as a doctor, astronomer, or chemist; or for those who were just curious about the wonders of the world. In either case our science teachers have been there to further our knowledge.

HOME EC: sewing, handicrafts, cooking, child care

An always practical curriculum was the Home Economics department. The many courses offered encompassed all of the different arts that home living entails: interior decoration, child care, handicrafts, food preparation, sewing, and family life. The faculty made a point of keeping the department up-to-date. Among the innovations introduced in recent years were coed classes—after all, homemaking is a cooperative venture—and for these times of inflation, money-saving techniques.

Under the skilled tutelage of their instructors, Industrial Arts students could be found developing projects all the way from preliminary ideas and sketches to, upon their completion, masterpieces of their very own in wood or metal. Meanwhile, other students were analyzing and reassembling intricate machines, while hopeful engineers and architects were taking advantage of drafting courses our multi-faceted Industrial Arts department offered as well. Girls were a part of the scene too. No matter what the sex and no matter what the course, each student was obtaining a useful and important skill for our increasingly mechanized world.

Admittedly, those hours spent memorizing vocabulary, translating dialogs, and conjugating verbs in countless tenses may have seemed wasted, but as years pass, the knowledge of a second language becomes an increasingly valuable asset in various occupations. But language courses consisted of more than just the language itself, as the background and the character of the respective nations were included in the lesson, as were some other interesting moments as well. After all, what French student can forget "Sur de pont d'Avignon . . ."

Who can think with an empty stomach or learn in a dirty room? The Cafeteria workers and Custodians help to keep the thinking and learning conditions at their best by fulfilling their tasks successfully. While the Cafeteria workers serve meals and snacks, the Custodians clean and sweep classrooms and halls. This combination of work establishes a pleasant atmosphere for learning.

JUNIOR CLASS

The class of 1978 has had a very exciting junior year. They have been involved in many activities including a roller skating party in November and a dance after the bonfire. To help raise money for their future activities, the class sponsored a rock concert in December featuring "The N.F.S. Boys" and a magazine drive. Their last major project was the Junior Prom held on April 23rd which involved many hours of planning and decorating. The Spectrum Staff of 1977 would like to wish this year's junior class much success next year at Sun Valley.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The future came into perspective as the sophomores began their year here at Sun Valley. Although bewildered about the new atmosphere, with the help of Mr. Muller, their advisor, they were able to unite as a class. Representatives were chosen and ideas were proposed. Their first big project was the selling of poinsettias for Christmas. Soon the class was ready to begin the hard work and planning of the Soph Hop. On March 19, 1977, the Soph Hop, "We May Never Pass This Way Again", was held. The Spectrum Staff of 1977 wishes the sophomore class much success in the next two years.

Remember the Times of Your Life...

*Good morning yesterday,
You wake up and time has slipped away,
But suddenly it's hard to find
The memories you left behind
Remember...*

*Growing up, growing strong
Learning all that's right and wrong
Sharing secrets, making friends,
Crying, laughing, until the end...
Graduation.
Remember...*

*The laughter and the tears
The shadows of misty yesteryears
The good times and the bad we've seen
And all the others in between
Remember...*

*Reach back for the joy and the sorrow
Put them away in your mind
For memories are times that you borrow
And spend when you get to tomorrow
Remember...*

*Here comes the setting sun
The seasons are passing one by one
So gather moments while you may
Collect the dreams you dream today
Remember...*

*You're almost at the top
So keep reaching, never stop
For the short time left will quickly pass
But the memories will always last.
Remember...*

ANGUARDS

from

ARANO & CO.

As members of the graduating Class of 1977 of Sun Valley High School, you have passed one of the great milestones of your life. You are to be commended for achieving the goal you first aspired to 12 years ago.

In future years, your paths will part as your classmates enter college or industry, become homemakers or professional people, enter the service or the arts. Many will remain in the "old hometown." Others will move away, to the four corners of the earth.

No matter what your choice of vocation or the site of your eventual home, our wish at Varano & Co. is that you will always be able to look back on your days at Sun Valley High and recall golden memories.

Good luck and Godspeed!

Inside every good story lies a hidden moral, and so, with the completion of the '77 yearbook story, comes our obscure and unique purpose—to display, in an interesting and exciting manner, without rulings of traditional blue and gold, the memories that will keep our senior year alive forever.

The collaboration of these memories could only come about with the help of numerous individuals, whom the Yearbook Staff would like to thank wholeheartedly. These generous individuals are: Mr. William O'Brien, of the Josten American yearbook Company, who endured with strong patience the "little" mistakes that came with some of our layouts; Zamsky Studios, who developed and delivered both the senior portraits and the photographs of the school year; various teachers who tolerated the frequent absence of students as they escorted the yearbook photographers during class time; Paul Anka, for sharing his creative song with us, making our underlying theme possible; those who attended the Christmas Ball and bought yearbooks and patrons, their support was greatly needed; the administration, faculty and students, whose cooperation and aid made our job easier; and last but not least, Mrs. Marguerite MacDonald, for without her continuous support and guidance we could have never comprised this book that presents "The Times of Your Life."
